Start the day with a hearty breakfast: seasonal fruit, juice, pastries, tasty cheese and ham, coffee and more.
The dishes of Alma Restaurant are inspired on Peruvian gastronomy - highlighting regional ingredients - combined with the best international cuisine. En the day enjoying the warmth of Alma Bar and its variety of drinks. Casa Andina also provides a convenience store - Sama2Go - where you can find snacks, a variety of bottled beverages, and personal items which you might need for your trip.

Tips for travelers

Cusco is at 3,399 m.a.s.l. Therefore, some people might suffer from “soroche” - the altitude sickness. It usually happens when people don’t hace time to adapt to the altitude. We suggest you drink a lot of water, “mate de coca” (coca tea) and eat light meals. Also bring sunblock, a hat, repellent, a swimsuit and warm clothes which you will especially wear at night.
